

Speakers

Chris Clarke-Epstein, CSP is a student of words—both spoken and written, a lover of storytelling—both true and slightly stretched, and a master of changes—both big and small. An award-winning national speaker, trainer, and author; Chris has created and presented programs that inspire people to look at their world from a fresh perspective, apply new knowledge, and make change. Chris gives “smart people” who dare to make a change ideas on leadership, teamwork, and feedback.

Marilyn Meyer Bratt, PhD, is a visionary advocate for specialized transitioning programs for newly licensed nurses. As project director of the federally-funded Wisconsin Nurse Residency Program, Dr. Bratt has dedicated her professional career to empowering nurses to educate and retain the next generation of nurses. An energetic and passionate presenter, Dr. Bratt will offer strategies to promote critical thinking development through active learning processes. Be prepared to “get out of your chair” as you learn methods that ignite your learner’s engagement and stimulate their thinking.

Jennifer Thyse, MS, RN is a nursing instructor at UWO College of Nursing. For the last three years she has been instrumental in designing and developing the new simulation lab for the College. Since its inception in 2003, Jennifer has trained nursing faculty on how to incorporate simulation training into all courses across the curriculum. Her passion for using simulation training will ignite you as she shares her ideas on how to use simulation on a tight budget, discusses simulation partnerships, and interactively demonstrates using a high-fidelity manikin.
