Speakers

Donna Wright, MS, RN Keynote

Donna Wright (national speaker, consultant, and author) excels at helping health care organizations create valuable competency and staff development. Her book, The Ultimate Guide to Competency Assessment—An Innovative Approach is now in its third edition. As a consultant with Creative Health Care Management, Donna uses her expertise in creative educational strategies, self-directed learning, competency assessment, creative approaches to mandatory training, creating a healthy work environment, and implementing shared governances to help other organizations to reach excellence.

Donna earned her masters' degree from the University of Minnesota. She has served as President of the National Nursing Staff Development Organization (NNSDO) and is a recipient of that organizations' Promoting Excellence award.

Donna has everything you need to know about competency assessment and creative ideas to soar education to new heights as well as provide a global view of current trends in competency and education for your organization.

Patti Gillette, Clinical Psychologist

Motivational speaker, Patti Gillette, graduated from UW-Madison with an undergraduate degree in Sociology and Social Work. After graduation, she moved to Washington state where she worked in variety of mental health-type settings ranging from Goodwill Industries, an older adult daycare, and a nursing home. Desiring to pursue further training in the area of psychology, Patti enrolled in graduate school and achieved a Master's Degree in Clinical Psychology.

In 2002, she opened a private mental health practice. Patti's expertise lies in the areas of treating depression and anxiety, eating disorders, chronic pain, stress management, and self-esteem. As a cognitive behavior therapist, she uses common sense and skill building to effectively treat her clients. Patti's desire to help others as well as her love for music, art and all types of physical activity aids her in sharing her enthusiasm of life with everyone she encounters.
